Discussion

I followed the thread tutorial all the way, but tried doing the third thread test where he used the same 0.1 offset threads. He was working on putting a fillet on the edge of the thread by first offsetting the face of the thread itself. I offset the face properly, but then tried to fillet the same as his number, and it would just throw an error, and I'm not sure why. I tried changing a few things, and it didn't fix it.

Discussion

I would not particularly call this an issue that stopped me from finishing the product, but his use of User Parameters in this lesson was not helpful, as he didn't explain what the values were until the very end, making it difficult to follow along.
